Executive Summary

The Office of the Independent Ombudsman was created by the 81st Legislature to protect the rights and welfare of the residents of the state supported living centers. There is an Assistant Independent Ombudsman at each center who are called upon daily to support positive outcomes. Residents, their families, guardians, and staff turn to the Office to provide assistance and answer complex questions concerning the needs of residents.

By law, the Office is required to report biannually to the Governor and legislative leadership concerning our activities and work at the centers. The biannual report presents data in a concise manner. It reflects activities of the Office as a whole and demonstrates each Ombudsman's ongoing work. What must be emphasized is that the presence of the Ombudsman at each center allows our Office to continuously serve as a reliable, knowledgeable, and accessible resource and provide an added layer of protection for residents through advocacy, conducting investigations, and monitoring each centers' practices.

It is my hope that this report offers insight into the work of our Office to investigate, evaluate, and secure the rights of residents of the state supported living centers. My thanks to the Governor and his staff, the leadership of HHSC, the staffs of each SSLC for the continued confidence they place in our Office. Most especially my thanks to the Assistant Independent Ombudsmen at each center and the members of the central office staff for their commitment to the residents and their continued dedication to our mission.

Respectfully Submitted,

The people who reside at each of the 13 state supported living centers receive 24-hour residential services, comprehensive behavioral treatment services and healthcare services, including physician, nursing and dental services. Other services include skills training, occupational, physical and speech therapies. The majority of residents have lived at the SSLC for more than 10 years, making up 66% of total enrollment. From January to June, there were 37 residents who transitioned to a community-based home. During this same period, there were 66 admissions and two returns from previous community transitions.

There are 2,915 residents across the state and 1,272 are over the age of 55 (44%). Of the residents over age 55, 89% have lived at the SSLC for more than 10 years. There are 153 residents who are under the age of 22 (5%). Children, adolescents, and adults up to age 22 receive public education through the local school district. Adults receive employment, vocational, or day habilitation services at each center. There are also many residents who have paid employment in their local communities.

Currently, there are 177 residents who are alleged criminal offenders. Although many SSLCs serve a small number, 77% of alleged offenders reside at Mexia SSLC which has been designated by the legislature to provide forensic services. There are 5 alleged offenders determined to be a high risk of danger to themselves or others and require a highly restrictive environment.

Duties and Activity of the Office

Being visible and engaged in the operations of the SSLC is the hallmark of the Ombudsman's role. The Ombudsman at each center provides meaningful input, collaboration, and expertise on a routine basis. This includes making recommendations to the SSLC administration. Contacts made directly to or by the Ombudsman are documented and tracked in an online database. There were a total of 534 contacts in the biannual period of January 1 to June 30, 2019. There is a slight increase in volume compared to the previous biannual period. This is primarily due to the Ombudsmen traveling across the state frequently between August and November to participate in the Program Review.

This annual legislatively mandated audit, referred to as Program Review, requires AIOs to visit the SSLCs to evaluate training, rights and due process, and staff to client ratio. Program Review consists of on-site reviews, in addition to ongoing monitoring conducted by each AIO at their facility. Throughout the year, AIOs collect data from newly hired DSP's about the on-the-job training they receive, monitor staffing ratios and observe and evaluate due process in Human Rights Committee meetings. During the 2018 Program Review, from ongoing and on-site audits, the office conducted 388 home observations, gathered in-service training feedback from 283 Direct Support Professionals, interviewed 286 new employees about on-the-job training, reviewed more than 1600 rights documents, and conducted 465 interviews with residents and Direct Support Professionals. Details and findings from Program Review 2018 can be found in the 2018 Annual Report.

Sometimes the Ombudsman is contacted about issues that are outside of the office's scope. During this reporting period, there were 60 contacts referred to another entity, such as the Long-term Care Ombudsman program. Excluding these referrals, the office handled 474 cases. Complaints that were investigated, opposed to consults, inquiries, or referrals, made up 80% of all contacts for this biannual period.

The majority of contacts made to the Ombudsmen come from staff members of the SSLCs. In this biannual period, a total of 164 staff members directly contacted the Ombudsman to report a concern or for a consultation. There were 104 cases where the resident made the initial contact and 125 cases in which the Ombudsman initiated an investigation.

Each Ombudsman has an office at the SSLC which makes them easily accessible to residents and staff. As a result, the majority of contacts are made in person. The Office of the Independent Ombudsman maintains a toll-free number which directly connects to the Ombudsman's office phone. This number is displayed prominently in common areas at each SSLC and is promoted on the website.

Staff, residents, family members, and others contact the Ombudsman for concerns that impact residents' lives. For this biannual period, most concerns were about residential service delivery. These documented concerns were about staffing, clothing, meals, daily routine, hygiene, and other services that residential staff provide. The second highest volume of contacts were about residents' rights. All concerns are resolved or monitored by the Ombudsman while the SSLC administration addresses the issue.

In addition to monitoring service delivery and investigating concerns, the Ombudsman at each SSLC evaluates the way the SSLC investigates serious incidents. Each Ombudsman attends incident meetings, reads all investigative reports, and monitors actions taken by the SSLC after each incident. In total, the Ombudsmen reviewed 2,241 incident investigations this biannual period.

The most common reported and reviewed incidents were abuse allegations, which made up 86% of incidents in this biannual period. The Ombudsmen do not investigate abuse and neglect. Allegations of abuse and neglect are reported to and investigated by the HHSC Provider Investigations unit. When a report is made, the SSLC is responsible for protecting the alleged victim and taking precautions to prevent further allegations from occurring. The Ombudsman at each SSLC monitors recommendations that the Provider Investigators make to the SSLC administration when an allegation has been confirmed.
